Sigmund Freud

mental process — topography:

phases of sexual development:

```
dyad
                                           triad (Oedipus Complex)
     monad \rightarrow
                   self + other
                                           self + other + another
                  child + parent
                                           child + parents (mother + father)
                    authority
                                           self — identity \rightarrow
             projection-identification
                                          subject + object
      oral
                       anal
                                           genital
feeding, suckling
                    excretion
                                           masturbation
   narcissism \rightarrow ambivalence \rightarrow love: ego-libido + object-libido — desire+fear to be / to have (love+hate, desire+fear, attraction+repulsion, enjoyment+disgust, sadism-masochism) \rightarrow homosexual \rightarrow heterosexual
     asexual
 (indifference)
                   (sameness)
                                           (difference)
```